HTML and CSS Vol 1, Part 1 of 5: Basics

Meet the expert: Jordan Hudgens has certifications for Ruby on Rails, Thinkful; Ruby on Rails, Bloc.io; Front End Development, Thinkful; and AngularJS, Thinkful. He is currently vice president of engineering for TRACKR in Midland, Texas and is working on his PhD in Computer Science from Texas Tech. In addition to Ruby, Jordan works with PHP, JavaScript, MySQL, Postgres, CSS3, C, C++, C#, Objective-C, and Python. He also works with the frameworks Rails (Ruby), Zend (PHP), and Django (Python), plus the libraries AngularJS, jQuery, and Backbone.js.

Prerequisites: none

Runtime: 01:29:23

Course description: HTML and CSS are the backbone of web publishing. In this series you'll learn all the tools necessary to create professional websites. This course covers an introduction to all the tools that will be used as well as an overview of HTML structure and CSS styling.

Course outline:

What are HTML and CSS
- Introduction
- What are HTML and CSS
- CSS Course Introduction
- Website We are Going to Build
- Tools and Basic Website Structure
- Summary

Styles
- Introduction
- Introduction using CSS Styles
- The CSS Cascading Process
- Summary

Links
- Introduction
- Links
- Divs
- Classes and IDs
- Summary